COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Nichole Eidsmoe / North Seattle College

North Seattle College student Nichole Eidsmoe is a committed advocate for her fellow students and her community, and splits her time between school, student governance, and a number of good causes. As well as being North's student body president, she is also president of the college's chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, as well as being a peer leader in the TRiO program. In her role on the Student Organizations for Equity and Engagement Board, she founded the Students with Disabilities Affinity group, and leads the college's LGBTQIA+ Affinity group.

She is currently completing her Associate of Arts degree at North with intentions to continue her studies at a four-year college in pursuit of a degree in psychology, with her long-term goal being a career in either therapy or higher education. Of her many accomplishments, she says one of her proudest of late is the work she has done with North's Benefits Hub and Office of EDI to expand the college's food pantry, for which she is a coordinator. "Over the 10 months that we worked together, the pantry went from providing food for 200 people to 2,000 people a month. My most memorable moment at North is working outside at the food pantry during a thunder and lightning storm."

Alex Roque / Seattle Central College

Seattle Central student Alessandra "Alex" Roque was born and raised in Manila, Philippines before moving to Seattle a few months before starting college. She has been involved in student government for much of her time at Central and is currently the Executive of Administration for the Associated Student Council, where she has helped build a strong culture of collaboration and camaraderie while leading numerous impactful projects.

After completing her studies at Central she plans to transfer to the University of Washington's Law, Society, and Justice program, where she will continue to pursue her dream of becoming a lawyer and to work on immigration and education policy within the U.S. When asked where she gets her drive to succeed, she answered, "I see my success and the fruits of my efforts as a homage to my community—my family, the people I grew up with, the friends and connections I've made here in Seattle. Even though they've helped without expecting anything in return, my motivation stems from the knowledge that I would not be where I am now without the people that believe in me."

Anne Le / South Seattle College

South Seattle College student Anne Le is a bright and driven academic, a leader, and a peer mentor to her fellow students. She is currently studying business, with intentions to transfer to Seattle University in order to complete her Bachelor's degree in Business Administration, while also completing an internship with Seattle City Light. Her long-term career goal is to attend law school and enjoy a long and fruitful career as a lawyer, where she hopes to channel her energy into supporting her community and advocating for the working class.

Along with her coursework at South, she has volunteered her time and energy to numerous extracurricular activities and programs, serving as marketing officer for the United Student Association, a peer mentor for the Seattle Promise program, a business tutor at the Tutoring Center, and more. Her advice to her peers and future cadres of students is, "I want everyone to be aware that you don't always have to be working to feel success. Take breaks and continue to rest. That will keep you and me motivated long term!"
